Zones takes Gold and Best of Competition in Best of NeoCon

In 2014, Teknion and renowned industrial design duo Luke Pearson and Tom Lloyd of London-based PearsonLloyd began to explore design concepts that would reflect the social and technological changes driving new behaviors at work. This creative collaboration has resulted in Zones, a robust solution for workplace design based on a poetic expression of a humanistic work culture. Last week at NeoCon, it also resulted in a Best of Competition Award from the prestigious Best of NeoCon Competition.

Introducing Studio TK: Ready. Set. Social.

Teknion Studio is relaunched as Studio TK at NeoCon 2016, with an emphasis on products that inform and support the Social Office. Teknion worked with San Francisco-based branding agency Tolleson to create a new brand identity and narrative for Studio TK, which includes ancillary furniture lines designed by such notable collaborators as Jeffrey Bennett, Monica Armani, Mario Ruiz, Toan Ngyuen, and Swedish design firm Claesson Koivisto Rune, and is also the exclusive distributor of B&B Italia's Project Collection in North America.
